WHAT IS THIS?

This is an offer of unsecured subordinated notes (“Notes”). The Notes are debt securities issued by ANZ Bank New Zealand Limited (“ANZ”). See Section 5.2 of this LDD (Interest).
Fees and charges	ANZ as issuer will not charge you brokerage or any other fees to apply or subscribe for Notes. However, you may have to pay brokerage to the firm that gives you an allocation of Notes.

NO GUARANTEE

Your Notes are not guaranteed by any member of the ANZ Group or any other person. ANZ is solely responsible for the repayment of your Notes.

ANZBGL does not guarantee or support ANZ or the Notes being issued. The Notes do not represent deposits or other liabilities of ANZBGL.

HOW YOU CAN GET YOUR MONEY OUT EARLY

Repayment of your Notes

Your Notes are a long term investment with a Term of 10 years. Your Notes must be repaid by ANZ on the Maturity Date (17 September 2031). However, ANZ may repay all or some of your Notes early in the following circumstances:

1. on the First Optional Redemption Date (17 September 2026) or on any Interest Payment Date after that date; or
2. on any Business Day after giving no less than 30 days' notice if a Tax Event or Regulatory Event has occurred.

Early repayment is subject to certain conditions being met (including the Solvency Condition being satisfied and ANZ obtaining the Reserve Bank's prior approval).

See Section 5.3 of this LDD (Repayment of the Notes).

Sale on NZX

ANZ intends to quote these Notes on the NZX Debt Market. This means you may be able to sell them on the NZX Debt Market before the end of their term if there are interested buyers. If you sell your Notes, the price you get will vary depending on factors such as the financial condition of the ANZ Group and movements in the market interest rates. You may receive less than the full amount that you paid for them.

HOW THE NOTES RANK FOR REPAYMENT

In a liquidation of ANZ, each Note gives you the right to payment of an amount equal to the Face Value plus all accrued but unpaid interest. Your right to payment of this amount will rank:

- behind the claims of all depositors and holders of other liabilities, securities, instruments and other obligations of ANZ, except for the claims and rights described below;
- equally with the claims of other Holders and the claims of holders of any other securities, instruments and other obligations of ANZ that rank equally with your Notes; and
- ahead of the rights of ANZ's shareholders and holders of any other securities and other instruments that rank behind the Notes.

In a liquidation of ANZ, it is unlikely that there will be surplus assets available for the liquidator to pay any amount to you in respect of your Notes.

Section 5.5 of this LDD (Ranking) explains how the Notes rank in a liquidation of ANZ.

NO SECURITY

The Notes are not secured against any asset of any member of the ANZ Group or any other person.

KEY RISKS AFFECTING THIS INVESTMENT

Investments in debt securities have risks. A key risk is that ANZ does not meet its commitments to repay you or pay you interest (credit risk). Section 6 of this document (Risks of investing) discusses the main factors that give rise to the risk. You should consider if the credit risk of these debt securities is suitable for you.

The interest rate for these Notes should also reflect the degree of credit risk. In general, higher returns are demanded by investors from businesses with higher risk of defaulting on their commitments. You need to decide whether the Offer is fair.

ANZ considers that the most significant risk factors are:

- changes in political and general business and economic conditions;
- the impact of COVID-19 on economic conditions;
- an increase in competitive market conditions or a technological change;
- credit risk;
- liquidity and funding risk events;
- regulatory changes or a failure to comply with laws, regulations or policies; and
- operational risk events.

These risks may adversely affect ANZ's financial position. They reflect the nature of ANZ's business as a financial institution and the financial services industry in which it operates.

If one or more of these risks eventuate, either individually or in combination, the detrimental impact on ANZ's financial performance may in turn:

- adversely affect the market price and liquidity of your Notes; and/or
- result in ANZ not making a payment on your Notes.

This summary does not cover all of the risks of investing in the Notes. You should also read Section 5 (Key features of the Notes) and Section 6 (Risks of investing) of this LDD.

WHAT IS THE NOTES' CREDIT RATING?

A credit rating is an independent opinion of the capability and willingness of an entity to repay its debts (in other words, its creditworthiness). It is not a guarantee that the financial product being offered is a safe investment. A credit rating should be considered alongside all other relevant information when making an investment decision.

The Notes have been rated by S&P Global Ratings ("S&P"). S&P gives ratings from AAA through to C, excluding ratings attached to entities in default, as set out in the table below. S&P ratings from AA to CCC may be modified by the addition of a plus (+) or minus (-) sign to show relative standing within the rating categories.

As at the date of this LDD, the Notes have a credit rating of A- from S&P.

Credit ratings for S&P	AAA	AA	A Credit rating for the Notes A-	BBB	BB	B	CCC	CC	C
Summary description of S&P issue credit ratings	Capacity of the issuer to meet its financial commitments on the obligation			Vulnerability of the obligation to non-payment

If you have an account with a Primary Market Participant and have not received an authorisation code by the date you want to trade your Notes, your Primary Market Participant can arrange to obtain your authorisation code from the Registry. Your Primary Market Participant will be charged a fee for requesting your authorisation code from the Registry and may pass this cost on to you.

You may only transfer your Notes in aggregate Face Value multiples of NZ$1,000, and after any transfer you and the transferee must each hold Notes with an aggregate Face Value of no less than NZ$5,000, or no Notes.

4 PURPOSE OF THE OFFER

As a registered bank, ANZ is required by the Reserve Bank to maintain an adequate level of regulatory capital to provide a buffer to absorb losses from its activities. The Offer will raise Tier 2 Capital to help ANZ meet its regulatory capital requirements and manage its capital position. The proceeds of the Offer will be used for ANZ's general corporate purposes.

The use of the money raised under the Offer will not change depending on the total amount that is raised. The Offer is not underwritten.

See Section 9 of this LDD (Information about ANZ) for more information about ANZ's regulatory capital requirements and capital management.

5 KEY FEATURES OF THE NOTES

5.1 GENERAL

A number of the key features of the Notes are described in Section 3 of this LDD (Terms of the Offer). Other key features of the Notes and further detail about some of the key features described earlier in Section 3 of this LDD (Terms of the Offer) are described below.

5.2 INTEREST

This Section 5.2 contains further detail on when interest is payable, the interest rate and how interest payments are calculated.

Interest Payment Dates	Interest on your Notes is scheduled to be paid quarterly in arrear on each 17 March, 17 June, 17 September and 17 December during the Term and on the date on which your Notes are repaid (see Section 5.3 of this LDD (Repayment of the Notes)). The Interest Payment Dates are subject to the Business Day convention described in Section 3.1 of this LDD (Description of the Notes).
Interest payments are conditional	The payment of interest on each Interest Payment Date (other than on the Maturity Date (17 September 2031)) is conditional on ANZ satisfying the Solvency Condition. The Solvency Condition will be satisfied if ANZ is Solvent at the time the payment is due and ANZ is able to pay the amount and still be Solvent immediately after paying the amount. The Solvency Condition does not apply to payments that are required to be made on the Maturity Date.
Unpaid interest accumulates	Unpaid interest accumulates. This means that if interest is not paid on an Interest Payment Date because the Solvency Condition is not satisfied, the unpaid interest will remain owing, will itself bear interest (at the same rate as the Notes), and will be payable on the earlier of the next Business Day on which the Solvency Condition is satisfied and the Maturity Date.
Interest rate	The interest rate will be fixed for the first 5 years of the Term, after which it will be a floating rate which will be reset quarterly on the first Business Day of each Interest Period during the remaining 5 years of the Term. The interest rate for the first 5 years of the Term will be determined on the Rate Set Date (10 September 2021) following the Bookbuild. The interest rate for this period will be a fixed rate equal to the sum of the Swap Rate on the Rate Set Date plus the Issue Margin. The interest rate for the second 5 years of the Term will be reset quarterly on the first Business Day of each Interest Period. The interest rate for this period will be the sum of the 3 Month Bank Bill Rate on the first Business Day of the Interest Period plus the same Issue Margin. If the sum of the 3 Month Bank Bill Rate plus the Issue Margin is less than 0% per annum, the floating rate will be deemed to be 0% per annum. The initial interest rate and the Issue Margin will be announced by ANZ via NZX and available at www.anz.co.nz/subordinated-notes on or about the Rate Set Date. The interest rate for each Interest Period during the second 5 years of the Term will be announced by ANZ via NZX on or about the first Business Day of the Interest Period.

Swap Rate	A swap rate is a reference rate commonly used in New Zealand by major financial institutions. The Swap Rate is a reference rate for a 5 year period.
3 Month Bank Bill Rate	A bank bill rate is a benchmark interest rate commonly used in New Zealand by major financial institutions. The 3 Month Bank Bill Rate is a benchmark interest rate for a 3 month period. Bank bill rates change to reflect market conditions over time, so the 3 Month Bank Bill Rate will likely vary for each Interest Period. ANZ is able to replace the 3 Month Bank Bill Rate with an alternative reference rate if the 3 Month Bank Bill Rate becomes unavailable.
Issue Margin	The Issue Margin is the percentage rate per annum determined by ANZ as issuer in consultation with the Joint Lead Managers through the Bookbuild. The Issue Margin will be announced by ANZ via NZX and available at www.anz.co.nz/subordinated-notes on or about the Rate Set Date. The Issue Margin for the Notes will not change.
Calculation of interest payments	During the first 5 years of the Term, interest will be payable in equal amounts on each Interest Payment Date. If the Notes are repaid on a date that is not a scheduled quarterly Interest Payment Date, the interest payable on the date of repayment will be adjusted to reflect the number of days from the previous Interest Payment Date (or the Issue Date if the Notes are repaid prior to the first Interest Payment Date) to the date of repayment. During the second 5 years of the Term, the interest payable on each Interest Payment Date will be calculated on the basis of the actual number of days in the Interest Period.

5.3 REPAYMENT OF THE NOTES

Your Notes are a long term investment with a Term of 10 years. However, ANZ may repay all or some of your Notes early in certain circumstances. This Section 5.3 contains further detail on when ANZ may repay your Notes.

Maturity Date	Your Notes must be repaid by ANZ on the Maturity Date (17 September 2031) if not repaid earlier. The repayment of your Notes on the Maturity Date is not subject to the Solvency Condition.
When ANZ may choose to repay all or some of your Notes early	ANZ may, subject to the conditions described below, choose to repay all or some of your Notes early: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • on the First Optional Redemption Date or on any Interest Payment Date after that date; or • on any Business Day after giving no less than 30 days' notice if a Tax Event or a Regulatory Event has occurred.
First Optional Redemption Date	The First Optional Redemption Date is 17 September 2026.
Tax Event	A Tax Event occurs if ANZ determines, in its absolute discretion, that: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • there has been, or there will be, a change in any New Zealand law, regulation, ruling or directive (including by way of the imposition of, or any change to, any New Zealand law, regulation, ruling or directive); • there has been, or there will be, a change in the application, interpretation or administration of any New Zealand law, regulation, ruling or directive by any authority (including the New Zealand Inland Revenue Department); or • any member of the ANZ Group is or will be required to comply with a change in any New Zealand law, regulation, ruling or directive or changed application, interpretation or administration, in each case that applies, or is to apply, after the Issue Date and which directly or indirectly affects the taxation treatment in relation to the Notes with the effect that any member of the ANZ Group would be exposed to an increase to its costs in relation to the Notes, provided that such event is not minor and could not reasonably have been anticipated by ANZ at the Issue Date.

Regulatory Event	A Regulatory Event occurs if ANZ determines, in its absolute discretion, that there has been, or there will be, any amendment to, clarification of, change in or to, change in the interpretation, application or administration of, or imposition of: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • any law, regulation or directive in New Zealand; • any official administrative pronouncement or action or judicial decision interpreting or applying any law, regulation or directive in New Zealand; or • any order, direction, standard, requirement (including any prudential regulation requirement), guideline or statement of the Reserve Bank (whether or not having the force of law), in each case that applies, or is to apply, after the Issue Date and, as a result, either: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> - ANZ is or will be adversely affected in relation to its regulatory capital treatment of the Notes; or - ANZ is not or will not be entitled to treat some or all Notes as Tier 2 Capital, provided that such event is not minor and could not reasonably have been anticipated by ANZ at the Issue Date.
Conditions to ANZ repaying all or some of your Notes early	ANZ may only choose to repay all or some of your Notes early if the Reserve Bank has given its prior written approval to the repayment of the Notes. Early repayment is also conditional on the Solvency Condition being satisfied. The Solvency Condition will be satisfied if ANZ is Solvent at the time the payment is due and ANZ is able to pay the amount and still be Solvent immediately after paying the amount. These conditions do not apply to the repayment of your Notes on the Maturity Date.
Amount that is payable to you if your Notes are repaid	You will receive the Face Value of the Notes plus all accrued but unpaid interest on the Notes when your Notes are repaid.
No certainty that ANZ will choose to repay the Notes early or be able to satisfy the early repayment conditions	ANZ is under no obligation to repay the Notes early. There is no certainty that ANZ will choose to repay the Notes: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • on the First Optional Redemption Date or any Interest Payment Date after that date; or • if a Tax Event or Regulatory Event has occurred, or that ANZ will be able to satisfy the conditions that apply to early repayment. In particular, there is no certainty that the Reserve Bank would give its approval to an early repayment.
Holders cannot choose to have the Notes repaid early	You do not have a right to request your Notes be repaid early for any reason.

5.4 EVENTS OF DEFAULT

The Notes have very limited events of default and your rights are limited if an event of default occurs, as described below.

Events of default	Consequences
Payment default An event of default will occur if: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • ANZ does not pay any Face Value due in respect of the Notes within 7 days of its due date; or • ANZ does not pay any interest due in respect of the Notes within 15 days of its due date. To the extent that a payment on the Notes is not required to be made because the Solvency Condition is not satisfied, the amount is not due and payable and a payment default cannot occur.	If a payment default occurs, you may only bring proceedings: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • to recover any amount then due and payable but unpaid on your Notes (subject to satisfaction of the Solvency Condition if the payment of the unpaid amount was subject to the Solvency Condition); • to obtain an order for specific performance of any other obligation in respect of your Notes; or • for the liquidation of ANZ. The outcome of any proceedings brought before a court may be uncertain, and a court may decide not to grant the remedies sought.
Commencement of liquidation An event of default will occur on the commencement of liquidation of ANZ.	In addition to the rights listed above, in the case of the commencement of liquidation of ANZ, the Face Value of each Note and any accrued but unpaid interest on the Notes will immediately become due and payable, and you may claim in the liquidation for that amount. In this circumstance, your claim will be subordinated as described in Section 5.5 of this LDD (Ranking), and it is unlikely that you will receive payment of any amount owing on your Notes.

5.5 RANKING

Ranking of your Notes

Your Notes are unsecured subordinated debt securities issued by ANZ. In a liquidation of ANZ, each Note gives you the right to payment of an amount equal to the Face Value plus accrued but unpaid interest. Your right to payment of this amount will rank:

- behind the claims of all depositors and holders of other liabilities, securities, instruments and other obligations of ANZ, except for the claims and rights described below;
- equally with the claims of other Holders and the claims of holders of any other securities, instruments and other obligations of ANZ that rank equally with your Notes; and
- ahead of the rights of ANZ's shareholders and holders of any other securities and other instruments that rank behind the Notes.

In a liquidation of ANZ, it is unlikely that there will be surplus assets available for the liquidator to pay any amount to you in respect of your Notes.

The following diagram shows how ANZ's liabilities and other capital instruments issued by ANZ (including the Notes) rank in a liquidation of ANZ. The diagram does not describe every type of liability, security, instrument or other obligation that ANZ may have while the Notes are outstanding.

Basis of preparation of table

Amounts in the table above (except for the estimated value of the Notes) are indicative amounts derived from ANZ's unaudited financial statements for the 6 months ended 31 March 2021. The actual amounts of liabilities and equity of ANZ at the point of its liquidation would be different to the indicative amounts set out in the diagram above. The table has been adjusted to include the issue of Notes, based on an estimated issue size of NZ$250 million. This adjustment does not affect the other amounts listed in the table. Amounts shown are presented in millions of New Zealand dollars and may be subject to rounding adjustments.

1 Covered bonds are an unsecured claim on ANZ but are secured over certain assets which have been sold by ANZ to the ANZNZ Covered Bond Trust. Those assets do not qualify for derecognition so still appear in ANZ's financial statements but are not available to creditors of ANZ, including Holders.

2 This is an estimate of the value of Notes to be issued and may change. The total value of the Notes to be issued will be announced by ANZ on or about the Rate Set Date (10 September 2021) via NZX and available at www.anz.co.nz/subordinated-notes.

No restrictions on issuing further securities or creating further liabilities

There are no restrictions on ANZ issuing further securities or creating further liabilities after the Notes have been issued that rank equally with, or in priority to, the Notes in a liquidation of ANZ.

ANZ could therefore, at any time after the Issue Date, issue further securities or create further liabilities that rank equally with or in priority to the Notes.

5.6 NO SET-OFF

You do not have any right to set-off any amounts that ANZ owes to you in connection with the Notes against any amounts that you owe to ANZ (whether in connection with the Notes or otherwise).

5.7 AMENDMENTS TO THE DEED POLL

The terms of the Notes as set out in the Deed Poll may be amended without your consent if, in ANZ's reasonable opinion, the amendment:

- is made to cure an ambiguity or correct a manifest error;
- is of a formal, minor or technical nature;
- is necessary or expedient for the purpose of complying with any law, the provisions of any statute, the requirements of any statutory authority, the NZX Listing Rules or the listing or quotation requirements of any securities exchange on which ANZ may propose to seek a listing or quotation of the Notes;
- is necessary or expedient for the purpose of enabling the Notes to be quoted or to remain quoted on a securities exchange or to be lodged or to remain lodged in a clearing system or to be offered for sale or for subscription under the laws for the time being in force in any place;
- is reasonably necessary if the 3 Month Bank Bill Rate is replaced by an alternative reference rate; or
- will not materially adversely affect the rights of Holders as a whole.

The terms of the Notes as set out in the Deed Poll may also be amended with the approval of a special resolution of Holders. A "special resolution" means a resolution passed at a meeting of Holders by at least 75% of the votes validly cast on a poll by Holders or a resolution signed by Holders of at least 75% of the aggregate Face Value of the Notes.

However, no amendment can be made to the terms of the Notes as set out in the Deed Poll unless, at least 5 Business Days prior to the amendment being made, notification of the amendment has been made to the Reserve Bank by ANZ, accompanied by any supporting documentation required by the Reserve Bank's prudential regulatory requirements.

Amendments made in accordance with the terms of the Notes as set out in the Deed Poll are binding on you even if you did not agree to them.

5.8 TAX INDEMNITY

If tax is not correctly deducted from a payment to you or if ANZ is required to pay an amount of tax on your behalf (for example, because you did not correctly notify details about your tax residence), then you indemnify ANZ in respect of that tax liability, which may be recovered from you or set-off against future payments to you.

6 RISKS OF INVESTING

6.1 INTRODUCTION

This Section 6 describes the following potential risks associated with an investment in the Notes:

- general risks of investing in the Notes;
- significant specific risks relating to ANZ's creditworthiness; and
- other specific risks associated with the Notes.

The selection of risks relating to ANZ's creditworthiness has been based on an assessment of a combination of the probability of a risk occurring and the impact of the risk if it did occur. That assessment is based on ANZ's business as at the date of this LDD.

You should carefully consider these risk factors (together with the other information in this LDD) before deciding to invest in the Notes.

This Section 6 does not cover all of the risks of investing in the Notes. Additional risks that ANZ is not aware of, or that it currently considers are not material, may also become important risk factors over time.

The statement of risks in this Section 6 does not take account of your personal circumstances, financial position or investment requirements. Before making any investment decision, you should consider the suitability of an investment in the Notes in light of your individual risk profile for investments, investment objectives and personal circumstances (including financial and taxation issues) and consult your financial adviser.

6.2 GENERAL RISKS

An investment in the Notes is subject to the following general risks:

The risk that ANZ encounters financial difficulty which has an adverse effect on your investment

If ANZ encounters financial difficulty, this may in turn:

- adversely affect the market price and liquidity of your Notes; and/or
- result in ANZ not making a payment on your Notes.

If ANZ becomes insolvent and is placed in liquidation, it is highly likely that you will lose all of your investment.

Market risks associated with the Notes

The market price of the Notes may fluctuate up or down and the Notes may trade below their Face Value

The market price of the Notes on the NZX Debt Market may fluctuate due to various factors, including liquidity and changes in interest rates, ANZ's financial position, ANZ's credit rating or the credit rating of the Notes. The Notes may trade at a market price below their Face Value, and the market price of the Notes may be more sensitive to changes in factors such as economic conditions, liquidity and risk tolerances than the market price of senior securities issued by ANZ or other issuers. If you were to sell your Notes at a time when the market price of the Notes was lower than their Face Value, you would lose some of the money you invested.

The liquidity of the Notes may be low

The market for the Notes may not be liquid and may be less liquid than that of other securities issued by ANZ or other issuers. If liquidity is low, you may not be able to sell your Notes at an acceptable price, or at all.

6.3 SPECIFIC RISKS RELATING TO ANZ'S CREDITWORTHINESS

An investment in the Notes is subject to the following significant specific risks relating to ANZ's creditworthiness.

Changes in political and general business and economic conditions may have an adverse effect on ANZ

ANZ's financial performance is primarily influenced by the political and economic conditions and the level of business activity in the major countries and regions in which ANZ, its customers or its counterparties operate, trade or raise funding.

Because ANZ conducts substantially all of its lending business in New Zealand, its performance is greatly influenced by economic and business conditions that prevail in New Zealand, including the level and cyclical nature of business activity. These conditions, in turn, are affected by domestic and international economic events, political events, natural disasters, and movements and events that occur in global financial markets (among other things).

The impact of COVID-19 on economic conditions may have an adverse effect on ANZ

The COVID-19 pandemic has already had, and may continue to have, a significant impact on the global economy and global markets, including in New Zealand. The imposition of travel restrictions, border controls, social distancing, quarantine protocols and other containment measures have contributed, and may continue to contribute, to a slowdown in economic conditions across the world, suppressed demand for commodities, interruptions to the supply chains for many industries globally, dampened consumer confidence and suppressed business earnings and growth prospects, all of which could contribute to ongoing volatility in global financial markets. The impact of this shock on credit losses and asset values continues to be very uncertain. Many of the policies that have been put in place are designed to 'hibernate' parts of the economy, at different times, so that activity can resume when the pandemic subsides. Even as some economies recover, there is considerable uncertainty about the length of these periods of hibernation, the most appropriate economic structure once the crisis has passed and the overall impact on confidence to invest in the future. While the future impact of the economic disruption caused by COVID-19, and the governmental responses to it, remain uncertain, ANZ may be materially adversely affected by a protracted downturn in economic conditions globally and, in particular, in New Zealand.

An increase in competitive market conditions or a technological change may have an adverse effect on ANZ

ANZ may be adversely affected by an increase in competitive market conditions or a technological change that puts ANZ's business platforms at a competitive disadvantage. For instance, digital technologies and business models are changing customer behaviour and the competitive environment, and emerging competitors are increasingly utilising new technologies and seeking to disrupt existing business models in the financial services sector. ANZ operates in highly competitive markets, so such changes could lead to a material reduction in ANZ's market share, a loss of customers, increased costs and reduced margins, and have an adverse effect on ANZ.

Credit risk may have an adverse effect on ANZ

ANZ is exposed to the risks associated with extending credit to other parties, including incurring credit-related losses as a result of customers or counterparties being unable or unwilling to honour their contractual obligations to ANZ under their borrowing. ANZ may incur losses if borrowers default on their loans, and these losses may be significant if there are widespread defaults in a particular sector or sectors of the economy.

Customers or counterparties may be unable or unwilling to honour their contractual obligations to ANZ under their borrowing for a number of reasons, including:

- less favourable business or economic conditions;
- climate events, geological events, plant, animal and human diseases, pandemics and other external events;
- changes to laws, regulations, or other policies such as carbon pricing and climate risk adaptation or mitigation policies; or
- interrupted supply chains (including as a result of some of the factors above).

In addition, the value of any property provided by borrowers as security may not be enough to repay their borrowing (for instance, as a result of a decrease in residential property prices). This may result in ANZ incurring losses, which may have an adverse effect on ANZ.

The risk of credit-related losses has increased as a result of the on-going COVID-19 pandemic and may further increase as a result of a number of other factors, such as an increase in interest rates, a deterioration in the New Zealand economy, a sustained high level of unemployment, more expensive imports into New Zealand, an increase in insurance costs or inability to insure (for instance, as a result of climate events) and a decrease in residential property prices.

Less favourable business or economic conditions, whether generally or in a specific industry sector or geographic region, as well as the occurrence of events such as natural disasters or pandemics, could cause customers or counterparties to fail to meet their obligations in accordance with agreed terms.

Liquidity, funding and capital risk events may have an adverse effect on ANZ

Liquidity and funding risk is the risk that ANZ is unable to meet its payment obligations as they fall due or that ANZ has insufficient capacity to fund increases in assets. Liquidity and funding risk is inherent in all banking operations due to the timing mismatch between cash inflows and cash outflows. Reduced liquidity could lead to an increase in the cost of ANZ's borrowings and constrain the volume of new lending, which may adversely affect ANZ.

Deterioration and volatility in market conditions, including the adverse changes in market conditions experienced as a result of COVID-19 and/or declines in investor confidence in ANZ, may materially impact ANZ's ability to replace maturing liabilities and access funding (in a timely and cost effective manner), which may have an adverse effect on ANZ.

Similarly, an inability of ANZ to maintain its regulatory capital at required levels may have an adverse effect on ANZ. For instance, if ANZ's ratios of capital to risk weighted assets decrease (which is likely to occur in times of market stress), ANZ may need to raise additional capital at a time when it is difficult or expensive to do so.

Regulatory changes or a failure to comply with laws, regulations or policies may have an adverse effect on ANZ

ANZ is subject to a substantial and increasing number of laws, regulations and policies, including industry self-regulation. The supervision and regulation of, and enforcement against, financial services groups (such as the ANZBGL group of companies, which includes ANZ) has become increasingly extensive, complex and costly. Significant regulatory change may adversely affect ANZ, potentially impacting its corporate structures, businesses, strategies, capital, liquidity, funding and profitability, cost structures, and the cost and access to credit for its customers and the wider economy. This in turn may have an adverse effect on ANZ.

A failure by ANZ to comply with laws, regulations or policies could result in regulatory investigations, legal or regulatory sanctions, financial or reputational loss, litigation, fines, penalties, restrictions on ANZ's ability to do business, revocation, suspension or variation of conditions of relevant regulatory licenses or other enforcement or administrative action or agreements that may have an adverse effect on ANZ.

Operational risk events may have an adverse effect on ANZ

Operational risk is the risk of loss and/or non-compliance with laws resulting from inadequate or failed internal processes, people and systems, or from external events. Operational risk categories include:

- internal fraud (for example, involving employees or contractors);
- external fraud (for example, fraudulent loan applications or ATM skimming);
- employment practices, loss of key staff, inadequate workplace health and safety and failure to effectively implement employment policies;
- impacts on clients, products and business practices (for example, misuse of customer data or anti-competitive behaviour);
- business disruption (including systems failures);
- reputational risk (for example, if ANZ's product and service disclosure practices, pricing policies and use of data do not meet the community's expectations);
- cyber risk (as described below);
- conduct and culture risks (for example, the failure of ANZ's business, employees or agents to appropriately consider the interests of consumers, the integrity of financial markets, and the expectations of the community in conducting its business activities);
- damage to physical assets; and
- execution, delivery and process management (for example, processing errors or data management failures).

Reliance on digital channels for ANZ's staff and customers heightens the risk associated with cyber-related attacks and the impact those attacks might have on ANZ's systems and service availability. This risk relates to ANZ-owned technology assets as well as technology owned by critical third party suppliers and critical services on which ANZ relies, such as telecommunications operators.

The frequency and magnitude of threats to ANZ's IT systems from cyber-attacks are increasing and continuously evolving. Cyber-attacks against organisations can range from attacks from single private individuals up to state owned attacks, which are generally much more sophisticated. While ANZ has implemented policies and procedures designed to protect against cyber-attacks, it may not be able to anticipate or implement effective measures to prevent or minimise disruptions including those caused by, among other things, cyber-attacks due to well-resourced perpetrators using highly sophisticated and/or novel techniques.

Loss from operational risk events may have an adverse effect on ANZ. Such losses can include fines, penalties, loss or theft of funds or assets, legal costs, customer compensation, loss of shareholder value, reputational loss, loss of life or injury to people, and loss of property and/or information.

Possible impact of risks

ANZ expects some of the risks described in this Section 6.3 of the LDD to arise in the normal course of its business. When they do, this can lead to a loss, an increase in costs, a reduction in revenues or a requirement to hold more capital. ANZ uses its risk management framework to manage and escalate the reporting of these risks and in the normal course of business these risks are not expected to have a material adverse impact on ANZ.

However, circumstances outside of the normal course of business can arise, such as international funding markets abruptly ceasing to function properly, widespread and sudden borrower defaults in a particular sector or sectors of the economy, a prolonged cyber-attack that significantly disrupts business, or a combination of those circumstances at the same time. The occurrence of these types of circumstances may make the risks more difficult to manage and the impact on ANZ more severe. A failure to manage these risks adequately could mean that ANZ is not able to make payments on the Notes when scheduled or at all, which means you could lose some or all of the money you invest in the Notes. In addition, a deterioration in the financial performance or creditworthiness of ANZ may adversely affect its credit ratings and/or the market price and liquidity of the Notes, which means you may not be able to sell your Notes at an acceptable price or at all.

6.4 RISKS ASSOCIATED WITH YOUR NOTES SPECIFICALLY

An investment in the Notes is subject to the following other risks associated with the Notes specifically:

In a liquidation of ANZ, it is unlikely that you will receive payment of any amount owing on your Notes

The Notes are subordinated. In a liquidation of ANZ, your right to payment of an amount equal to the Face Value plus all accrued but unpaid interest will rank behind depositors and other general creditors of ANZ. It is unlikely that there will be surplus assets available for the liquidator to pay any amount to you in respect of your Notes. See Section 5.5 of this LDD (Ranking).

You have no rights against ANZ if interest is not paid because the Solvency Condition is not satisfied on the payment date

At any time before the Maturity Date (17 September 2031) the payment of interest on your Notes on an Interest Payment Date is conditional on ANZ satisfying the Solvency Condition. If ANZ does not pay interest on an Interest Payment Date because the Solvency Condition is not satisfied, it will not constitute a default by ANZ and you will have no right to take action against ANZ or any other person in respect of that non-payment. See Section 5.2 of this LDD (Interest).

The interest rate may go down to 0% per annum

The interest rate is fixed for the first 5 years of the Term, after which it will be a floating rate which will be reset quarterly on the first Business Day of each Interest Period during the remaining 5 years of the Term. The floating rate will be equal to the sum of the 3 Month Bank Bill Rate on the first Business Day of the Interest Period plus the Issue Margin. The 3 Month Bank Bill Rate changes to reflect market conditions over time, so the 3 Month Bank Bill Rate will likely vary for each Interest Period. The 3 Month Bank Bill Rate may go down, including below 0% per annum. If the sum of the 3 Month Bank Bill Rate plus the Issue Margin is less than 0% per annum, the floating rate will be deemed to be 0% per annum.

This means that, when the interest rate is reset, it may be lower than the rate that applied for a prior period, and may be 0% per annum. See Section 5.2 of this LDD (Interest).

You have no right to request early repayment of your Notes and ANZ may not repay your Notes early

The Notes are a long term investment with a Term of 10 years. You have no right to request that your Notes be repaid early. ANZ is under no obligation to repay the Notes early. There is no certainty that ANZ will choose to repay the Notes:

- on the First Optional Redemption Date or any Interest Payment Date after that date; or
- if a Tax Event or Regulatory Event has occurred, or that ANZ will be able to satisfy the conditions that apply to early repayment. In particular, there is no certainty that the Reserve Bank would give its approval to an early repayment.

Unless your Notes are repaid early by ANZ, to realise your investment before the Maturity Date you would need to sell your Notes on the NZX Debt Market at the prevailing market price. You may not be able to sell your Notes, and even if you can, the price may be less than what you paid for your Notes. See Section 5.3 of this LDD (Repayment of the Notes).

ANZ may repay all or some of your Notes early in certain circumstances

In certain circumstances, ANZ can repay all or some of your Notes early (see Section 5.3 of this LDD (Repayment of the Notes)). You may be disadvantaged if all or some of the Notes are repaid early. For instance, if all or some of the Notes are repaid early you may not be able to reinvest the proceeds at a comparable return. See Section 5.3 of this LDD (Repayment of the Notes).

ANZ's regulatory requirements may change

As a New Zealand registered bank, ANZ is subject to regulatory requirements, including conditions of registration that are imposed by the Reserve Bank. The regulatory requirements that apply to ANZ may change from time to time and you may be disadvantaged by the changes. For instance, the Reserve Bank restricted banks from redeeming any capital instruments (such as the Notes) for a period during the COVID-19 pandemic.

7 TAX

The returns on the Notes will be affected by taxes. The information set out in this Section 7 and in Section 8 of this LDD is based on the New Zealand law in force at the date of this LDD, does not constitute tax advice to any Holder, is general in nature and is limited to New Zealand taxation only.

Holders that are New Zealand tax residents or are non-residents that are engaged in business in New Zealand through a fixed establishment in New Zealand and either (1) hold the Notes for the purpose of that business or (2) are a registered bank in New Zealand and are not associated with ANZ ("New Zealand Holders") will have resident withholding tax ("RWT") deducted from the interest (including amounts deemed to be interest for New Zealand withholding tax purposes) that is payable under the Notes, unless the Holder has notified the Registry that the Holder has RWT-exempt status no later than 5 Business Days before the relevant payment date.

If a Holder is subject to the deduction of RWT, that Holder should provide the Registry with the Holder's IRD number and applicable RWT rate. If the Holder does not provide the Holder's IRD number, RWT will be deducted at the non-declaration rate of 45%. If a Holder provides the Holder's IRD number, but not the Holder's applicable RWT rate, RWT will be deducted at the default rate of 33% (or 28% if the Holder is a company that is not a Māori authority).

There may be other tax consequences from acquiring or disposing of the Notes, and from the redemption or maturity of the Notes.

If you have any questions regarding the tax consequences of investing in the Notes you should seek advice from a tax adviser.

8 TAX CONSEQUENCES FOR OVERSEAS HOLDERS

The information in this Section 8 is based on the New Zealand law in force at the date of this LDD.

If a Holder is not a New Zealand Holder, approved issuer levy ("AIL") will be deducted from interest (including amounts deemed to be interest for New Zealand withholding tax purposes) paid to the Holder in lieu of deducting non-resident withholding tax ("NRWT") (unless the Holder elects for NRWT to be deducted or the payment of AIL is not effective to reduce the applicable rate of NRWT to 0%). If NRWT is deducted, ANZ will not pay any additional amount in respect thereof.

If ANZ applies the AIL regime as described above, ANZ will apply a zero rate of AIL, if possible. Otherwise, AIL will be deducted at the standard rate of 2% from the interest payment and ANZ will not pay any additional amount in respect thereof.

Where a Holder who is not a New Zealand Holder holds the Note jointly with a person who is a New Zealand tax resident, NRWT must be deducted from interest paid to the non-resident at the applicable rate of RWT. Payment of AIL does not allow a zero per cent rate of NRWT in this case. Further, if a non-resident Holder is entitled to relief from New Zealand tax on the non-resident's interest income under a double tax agreement, the non-resident must separately apply to Inland Revenue for that relief by filing a return, as double tax agreement relief does not apply at source in this scenario.

Overseas Holders may be subject to tax in their own jurisdiction and should seek advice from a tax adviser.

9 INFORMATION ABOUT ANZ

9.1 ANZ'S BUSINESS

Information about ANZ's business is contained in half-yearly disclosure statements ANZ prepares under the RBNZ Act. ANZ's disclosure statements are available at www.anz.co.nz/about-us/media-centre/investor-information/. Further information about ANZ's business is contained in the investor presentation for the Offer, which is available on the Disclose Register at www.disclose-register.companiesoffice.govt.nz/ (offer number OFR13137).

9.2 ANZ'S REGULATORY CAPITAL REQUIREMENTS

The Notes will count as Tier 2 Capital for ANZ under the Reserve Bank's banking prudential requirements. Those requirements include capital adequacy requirements that banks must comply with under their conditions of registration. These requirements are intended to ensure that an adequate level of capital is maintained, providing a buffer to absorb losses from a bank's activities before depositors and other senior creditors are affected. The Reserve Bank's approach to assessing capital adequacy focuses on the credit risk associated with a bank's exposures, market and operational risks and the quality and quantity of a bank's capital.

The amount of the Notes that ANZ may count as Tier 2 Capital in its capital ratio calculations will decrease by 20% each year during the final 4 years of the Term before the Maturity Date.

9.2.1 Types of regulatory capital

Capital type	Description	Reserve Bank's required ratio of capital to risk weighted assets ³
		August 2021 ⁴	July 2028 ⁵
Common Equity Tier 1 Capital	Includes ordinary share capital, retained earnings, and certain accounting reserves. Some amounts (e.g. the value of goodwill) must be deducted to determine the final value of Common Equity Tier 1 Capital.	At least 7%	At least 13.5%
Additional Tier 1 Capital	Additional Tier 1 Capital is a lower quality form of capital than Common Equity Tier 1 Capital, but is still freely available to absorb losses. Additional Tier 1 Capital includes perpetual preference shares.	Up to 1.5%	Up to 2.5%
Tier 1 Capital	The sum of Common Equity Tier 1 Capital and Additional Tier 1 Capital.	At least 8.5%	At least 16%
Tier 2 Capital	Tier 2 Capital is a lower quality form of capital than Tier 1 Capital, but is still available to absorb losses and strengthens a bank's overall capital position. Tier 2 Capital includes subordinated instruments like the Notes.	Up to 2%	Up to 2%
Total Capital	The sum of Tier 1 Capital and Tier 2 Capital.	At least 10.5%	At least 18%

The Reserve Bank is increasing the required ratios of capital to risk weighted assets for New Zealand banks progressively over a transition period from 1 July 2022 to 1 July 2028.

9.2.2 Loss absorbing features of the Notes

In very general terms, a capital instrument is available to absorb losses if the holder of the instrument has no, or only a very limited, ability to demand that payments are made on the instrument.

The Notes will count as Tier 2 Capital, and the required loss absorbing features are incorporated in the terms of the Notes. In particular:

- at any time before the Maturity Date (17 September 2031), the payment of interest on your Notes is conditional on ANZ satisfying the Solvency Condition;
- you have no ability to demand early repayment of your Notes;
- any early repayment of your Notes is at ANZ's election and is subject to conditions (including satisfaction of the Solvency Condition and the prior written approval of the Reserve Bank); and
- the Notes are subordinated to senior creditors of ANZ (including depositors) in the event of a liquidation of ANZ.

9.3 ANZ'S CAPITAL MANAGEMENT STRATEGY

The ANZ Group's core capital objectives are to:

- protect the interests of depositors, creditors (including Holders) and shareholders;
- ensure the safety and soundness of the ANZ Group's capital position; and
- ensure that the capital base supports the ANZ Group's risk appetite, and strategic business objectives, in an efficient and effective manner.

⁴ These are the ratios that apply to most New Zealand banks, including ANZ, as at August 2021.

⁵ These are the ratios that are expected to apply to systemically important New Zealand banks, including ANZ, from July 2028.

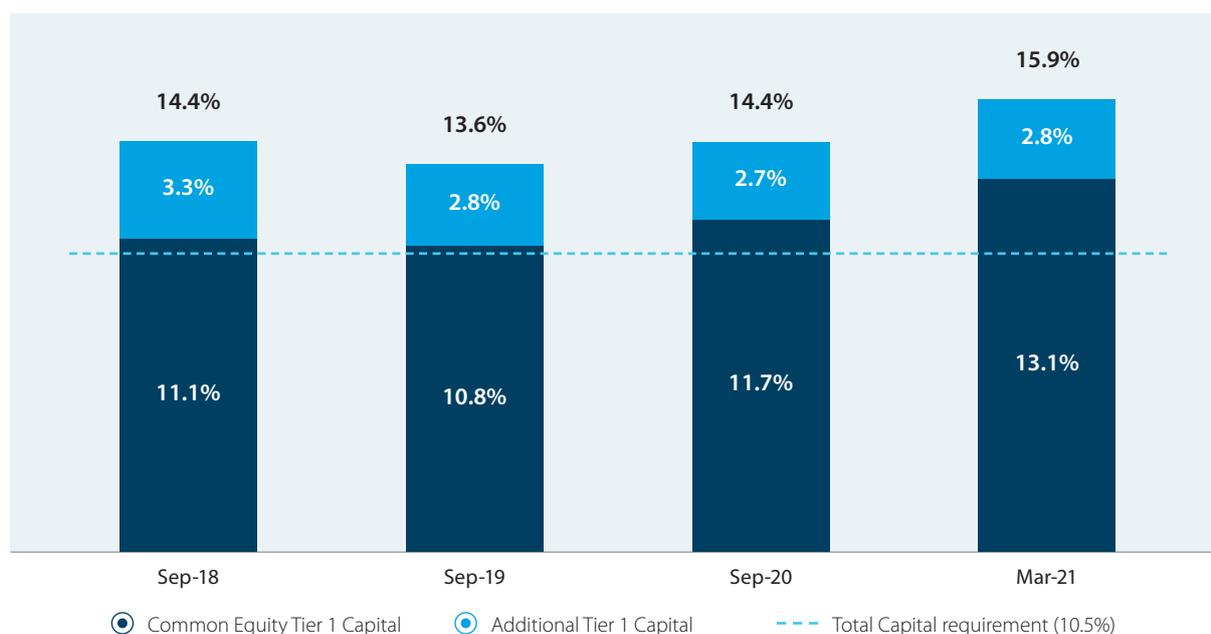

The ANZ Group has minimum and trigger levels for Common Equity Tier 1, Tier 1 and Total Capital that ensure sufficient capital is maintained to:

- meet minimum prudential requirements imposed by regulators;
- ensure consistency with the ANZ Group's overall risk profile and financial positions, taking into account its strategic focus and business plan; and
- support the internal risk capital requirements of the business.

9.4 ANZ'S REGULATORY CAPITAL POSITION

ANZ's historical regulatory capital position

The information in the graph is based on information in ANZ's disclosure statement for each period. It is illustrative only and does not guarantee or forecast the future regulatory capital position for ANZ.

By subscribing for Notes, you agree to comply with the Selling Restrictions and to indemnify ANZ, the Registry, the Arranger and each Joint Lead Manager (and their respective directors, officers, employees and agents) in respect of any loss, cost, liability or expense sustained or incurred as a result of you breaching the Selling Restrictions.

The Selling Restrictions may be modified by ANZ, including following a change in a relevant law, regulation or directive.
