Conservative Fund

Awards 2020

New Zealand Fund Manager of the Year
For more information, see anz.co.nz/OA-Investmentsawards

Fund description

The Conservative Fund invests mainly in income assets (cash and cash equivalents and fixed interest), with a smaller exposure to growth assets (equities, listed property and listed infrastructure). The fund may also invest in alternative assets.

Market Review

Global bond markets had a relatively quiet month, with central banks offering little change to their accommodative policy stance. In the US, the Federal Reserve left interest rates unchanged, continuing to say it's ready to do what is needed to support the economy amid the pandemic. "We are committed to using our full range of tools to support our economy in this challenging environment," said Fed Chairman, Jerome Powell.

In New Zealand, bond markets recorded small gains as interest rates continued to grind lower – a scenario in which bonds tend to perform well. The yield on the New Zealand 10-year government bond fell 19 basis points in July, closing at 0.74%, its lowest level since May.

In equity markets, it was a good month with many indices we track recording their fourth-consecutive winning month. In the US, technology shares continued their stellar run, with the NASDAQ 100 surging to a new record high, rising 7.4% over the month. There were strong gains in large-cap tech stocks including Apple, Google, Microsoft and Facebook. Elsewhere, the broader S&P 500 gained 5.5% over the month. New Zealand markets also posted gains, but slightly underperformed US markets with the NZX 50 ending July up 2.4%.

In July, we maintained our small overweight to international equities believing the level of fiscal stimulus will support the economy through this period of uncertainty. Furthermore, we are starting to see some good progress on the vaccine front. Additionally, we added a small overweight to Australian equities.

*On 15th May 2020, we added PIMCO Australia Pty Limited as an additional investment manager to our international fixed interest asset class. PIMCO invest in similar assets to our existing investment manager Vanguard Investments Australia, and like Vanguard, are restricted to investment grade securities. PIMCO provide a broad active management approach to international fixed interest and we believe will help to improve the expected return of this asset class.
